GA French editor, writing on Mormonism in the United States, has the following among other re-

The fault which was committed at the hirth of Mormon-lem, and which has gone uncorrected so long, must be at-tributed to the institutions of the country, which have no power of prevention, and are no slow in repressing. The United States of America is the only country in the world which could have served for the theater of this great scandal.

This evidently is not from an admirer of our institutions. Yet there is much truth in it. There is, indeed, a great truth at the bottom of it, a truth which our public men cannot too highly respect. It is admitted on all sides that the characteristic defect of the Democratic form of government is a lack of promptness and decision in the administration of affairs-in other words, the absence of a proper 'egree of Executive vigo- and efficiency. This, whatever may be said to the contrary by the jealous sticklers for State Rights, is the real weakness of our Government. This, generally speaking, is the direction in which we lean, when we swerve from the strict line of political rectitude. It is the course of our national decay. It is the quarter from which we have most to apprehend, and, which, therefore, we should most carefully and zealonsly guard. And the mint, was then paid out, and when it was rethis obligation cannot be too deeply impressed upon the minds of our public men. It cannot be too thoroughly realized by the people themselves.

Undoubtedly the larger number if not all of the evils which disfigure and disgrace the nation at the of the New York banks pay out counterfeit coin present moment are due to the triumph of the prin- the public ought to know it, and, if the coin didn't ciple of anarchy amongst us. We are in a state of come from the bank, it ought to have an opportunity quasi poli ical dissolution. The bonds of govern- to prove the fact and relieve its officers from suspiment are frightfully relaxed. And this notwith cion. ion on the part of the Na tional Executive surpassing in flagitionsness everything of the kind in our history. There is a marked systematic force of what is known as a strong government, and the capricions, fitful extravagances of one which is the tool and toy of the masses. Inordinate assumptions of power, unchartered authority and arbitrary contempt of forms, are among the most frequent and alarming incidents of misrule. No encroachments are so bold or terrible as those of anarchy. In this respect the most absolute government has not the slightest advantage over no gov-

But, whilst despotism may be powerful for good as well as evil, anarchy is powerful for evil only. It may trample laws and constitutions under foot, but it is impotent to execute them. Its faculty of destruction is resistless, but it can neither build up nor preserve. It may run riot with the Government but it cannot prevent the people from running riot in spite of the Government. Hence, it may well be that, in the qualified anarchy which has pervaded our country for the last few years and still pervades it, the monster of Mormonism has shot into proportions as treasonable as they are loathsome from the weakness and incompetency of the central government. We believe that it has. Nor are we entire- ble. ly prepared to deny the French editor's assertion that the United States "is the only country in the world which could have served for the theatre of this great scandal." The truth is, the particular defect of our Government which has allowed this unquestionable scandal to spring up and flourish under it is the price we pay for the inestimable advantages of public and private liberty we enjoy; and, as no other country in the world possesses these advantages in so large a degree as our own, it is only natural that we should stand alone in the necessary but far inferior evils they carry with them. We say far inferior evils, for we still have an abiding faith that the patriotism and intelligence of the people will correct them, and that without serious delay. If, however, they go on angmenting as they have been doing recently, they will most certainly at no distant

A sad, unpitied sigh: And as I saw the sunheams play

Thou shouldet so soon forget. . I fondly hoped those tender ties Would never have been broken, But like the "Dead Sea" fruit they leave But ashes as their token: Like summer flowers they all have fled, To never more return, And memory can hut drop a tear Above their sacred urn; But still those early vows we made To me shall sacred be, And though we meet on earth no more My heart shall cling to thee.

BALTIMORE, MD. THE SOUTHERN DIRECT TRADE .- We announced some time ago that Col. Preston of Virginia had been sent abroad with the view of effecting an arrangement to secure a direct trade between Norfolk and some European port. The Colonel has returned, and reports in substance that "no definite contract has yet been made, but a paper has been drawn up by the Orleans (French) Railway Company, advising, in the form of a stipulation, the basis upon which the projected service might be organized."

That paper is as follows: 1. The number, tonnase, power, and speed of the vessels shall be determined by the company; but the number shall not be less than four, nor the number of round trips per annum less than tweuty-four, 2 and 3. The tonnase, power, and speed of the vessels to be not less than the tonnase, &c., of the steamers Fulton and Arago.

4. The capital of the company to be $3,000,000.

5. Oue-balf of the capital to be subscribed in America and one-balf by the Orieans Railway Company, or under the influence.

6. The "domicile" of the company to be in Paris in

6. The "domiche" of the company to be in raris in France.
7. The first year four directors to be French and three American; the second year, four American and three French; and so on, alternately, unless otherwise determined by the statutes of the company.
8. The American liner sist of guarantee to the enterprise for ten years, a subvention for mail service, $12,500 per round trip. Any subvention that may be given by the Frenc' Government shall likewise have to the common benefit of the stockholders.
9. Two of the four proposed steamships to be built at Norfolk, or some other point in Virginia, and to carry the American flag; the other two to be built in France, and to carry the French flag.

If the Virginia internal improvements were all completed, or nearly so, there would be some prospect of the success of the contemplated enterprise, but under existing circumstances it appears hardly probable that the proposition can be carried out on this side, even if our French friends should be ready to comply with their part of the engagement. It will be difficult to procure the subscription of a million and a half of stock, at least until there are some better assurances of profit from the investment than now exist. If Virginia will finish her railroads, the propose I connection can be made profitable and may easily be made.

A FLOOD OF COUNTERFEITS .- The New York papers say that, for several weeks past, a perfect flood of counterfeit American quarters and half dollars had been let loose in Brooklyn, and thousands of dollars' worth of the spurious coin must be affoat in that city. The New York Times is informed that the coin, some of it, was received by the employees at the Navy Yard, on their last pay day. It is rumored that a large quantity, apparently fresh from turned that a request was made to keep the matter quiet, or it might injure the bank from which the coin was received. This was a singular request and might justly furnish grounds for suspicion. If any

The steamers Empress and Antelope passed Memphis yesterday full of passengers and freight. They will arrive on Saturday and leave for New Orleans on Monday.

The fleet Alvin Adams is the packet for Memphia to-morrow evening.

The Platte Valley .- This elegant steamer did not get off yesterday. She will get off to-day. She is a bran new craft and has elegant cabins. Among her officers is Mr. Robert Steele, a promising young man, who, we predict, will render a good account of himself.

The Impertal .- We took a hasty look through this oat yesterday, and we must acknowledge that she excels all our expectations. Without doubt she will be the largest and most capacious craft for passengers as well as freight that has ever been set afloat on the Western waters. She can furnish accommodations to a village population and carry a ship's load. She will be indeed a floating palace. Mr. Porter is engaged in the ornamental work of her cabin, which will be one of the most beautiful jobs ever done on any boat, the Eclipse not excepted. THE MORMON WAR -The New York papers are in possession of intelligence from Utah up to the 25th of December last, by way of San Bernardino as San Francisco, and from Camp Scott, at Fort Bridger, to the 9th of January, by the way of Fort Leavenworth.

The latest news from Salt Lake City by the way The latest news from Salt Lake City by the way of San Bernardino is up to the Christmas holidays. The information in regard to the condition of things among the Mormons is obtained from a gentleman who arrived at San Bernardino on the 15th of January and who left the city of the Saints at the time stated. Mails and dispatches from Salt Lake came through. We have the Deseret News of the 23d of December. It would appear from the accounts which he gives of the state of affairs in Utah, that the Mormons are absolutely reduced to a state of me from the bank, it ought to have an opportunity prove the fact and relieve its officers from suspice.

Mone Troops for Utah.—A company of blutteers for the Utah regiment has been organised. for the common necessaries of life, that orders have been issued to prevent any further emigration from San Bernardino. The party that set out with Col. Lynan had a train of twenty wagons, and the en-campment at the Mohave numbered about one hun-dred wagons. Col Lyman, as we have said, intends to remain at the crossing, and will send to San Ber-nardino for whatever supplies he may require. These supplies are to be obtained through some of the late residents of the city, whom Colonel Parker prefers employing for the purpose. The necessities of the brethren in Salt Lake City are so pressing that the provisions are forwarded to them from the encampment as soon as they are obtained, and all that can be purchased from the Gentiles will also be sent to the destitute Saints. Despite the want and suffering which prevails among them they bear up against it, it is said, with the heroism of martyrs. The camp on the Mohave, however, cannot be a devoid of the comforts of life, after all, as it might be supposed to be. It has been stated by severa that since the camp was established there has been that since the camp was established there has been no less than fifty marriages, the young men of the party agreeing to take charge of all the young ladies, to which the latter freely consented, thus securing protection through the long journey. Not only have marriages been celebrated wholesale, in orthodox Mormon style, but the married ladies have contributed to the hiliarity and pleasure of camp life by adding to the pupulation—there having been no less than twenty-five births.

The names of two of the five unfortunate gentlemen, an account of whose cold-blooded murder in the Mormon settlement has already been published, from the Placerville Argus, were Aiken. They were brothers, and at the time of their leaving the lower part of the State they had from $4,000 to $6,000 in gold. This accounts for their representations in Careon Valley. They were afterwards heard of as gold. This accounts for their representations in Carson Valley. They were afterwards heard of as being in prison in Salt Lake City, where they had been rolibed of all their funds. The next and last that was heard of them was the mnrder of all but one, who was mortally wounded. Even if the wonned man should have written to California to inform his friends of the circumstances of the sad inform his friends of the circumstances of the sad fate of himself and his unhappy comrades, owing to the strict espoinage exercised over the post office de-partment in the revolted territory, such a letter would never have been permitted to reach California.

The Deseret News contains Brigham Young's message to the Utah Levislature. After alluding to the condition of the Territory as regards agriculture, the mechanic arts, mining, education, the policy pn-sued toward the Indians, and the mail contract, he discusses the difficulties of the Saints with the Gentiles. Having received no official notification of the intention of the Government to supercede him in the gnbernatorial office, nor of the dispatch of troops to Utah, Young affects to regard the army at Fort Bridger and the civil authorities there as an organized mob, again t which he has already fulminated a proclamation to disperse; and he calls upon the Legislature to adopt such measures as may be proper in the premises. The Legislature thereupon passed resolutions expressing their entire confidence in Brigham Young, and their determination to sustain him. It also passed a law attaching Green county to Salt Lake county, with the view, prolably, of nullifying some of the proceedings of the United States Court which had opened there by Judge Eckels.

WASHINGTON, March 3.

WASHINGTON, March 3.

Senate.—The hour of 1 having arrived, the special order of the day, the Kansas bill, was taken np.

Mr. Seward delivered a lengthy speech on the subject, discussing the following propositions: 1st—
That, whereas, in the beginning the slave power was absolute, it is now being reversed. 2d—That, whereas, heretofore the national government had favored the change of the batance from the slave to the free States, it has now reversed this policy and opposes the change. 3d—That national intervention in the Territories in favor of slave labor and slave States is opposed to the national, social, and moral devel-is opposed to the national, social, and moral developments of this republic.

In arguing these propositions, Mr. Seward said that Nebraska was resigned to free labor without a struggle, and Kansas became the theater of the first actual national contest between slave and free labor. Emigrants met face to face to organize through the machinery of republican action a civil community. In this first hour of trial the new system of popular sovereignty signally fails, because it is impossible to organize by one single act in one day a community perfectly free, perfectly sovereign, and perfectly constituted out of elements massimilated, nnarranged, and uncomposed. Free labor had rightfully won the day. Slave labor wrested the victory to itself by traud and violence.

In speaking of the opinion pronounced by the Sn-preme Court of the United States in the Dred Scott case, he said, in this ill-omened act it forgot its own case, he said, in this ill-omened act it forgot its own dignity which had always been maintained with judicial jealousy. They torgot that the province or a court is simple jus dicere and not at all just directions of the many foul examples; for the last do but corrupt the stream, while the former corrupt the formain; and they and the President alike forgot that judicial uscrpation is more odious and intolerable than any other among the manifold practices of tyranny; and further, he added, no wonder that the question before us excites apprehension and alarm.

There is at last a North side of this chamber—a North side of the chamber of Representatives, and a North side of the Union, as well as South sides to all of these. Each of them is watchful, zealous, and resolute. If it be true, as has so often been asserted, that the Union cannot survive the decision by Congress of a direct question involving the adopserted, that the Union cannot survive the decision by Congress of a direct question involving the adoption of a free State into the Union, which will establish the ascendancy of the free States under the constitution, and draw after it the influence of freedom in the foreign and domestic conduct of the government, then the day of dissolution is at hand. Further on he said: Let the Supreme Court recede. Whether it recedes or not, we shall reorganize the Court, and thus reform its political sentiments and practices, and bring them into harmony with the constitution and the lines of nature. In doing so, we shall not only reassume our own just authority, but we shall restore that high tribunal itself to the position it ought to maintain, since so many inalienable rights of citizens, and even of States themselves, depend upon its wisdom and impartiality.

States themselves, depend upon its wisdom and impartiality.

If you attempt to coerce Kansas into the Union under the Lecompton constitution, the people of that territory will resist to civil war, if necessary. You are pledged to put down that revolution by the sword. Will the people listen to your voices amid the thunders of your cannon? Let but one drop of a free citizen's blood be shed there by the federal army, and the countrapance of every Representative. States themselves, depend upon its wisdom and impartiality.

therefore they have right to complain. If the free State party have as large a majority as presented, they can change any obnoxious features in the constitution, but, if in the minority, they must submit like good citizens to the will of the majority, but they don't want peace, they desire agitation. The affairs in Kansas, he contended, will be infinitely worse if not admitted. He was impatient and anxious that Congress be relieved from the consideration of the question; and that the people be left to settle their own difficulties in their own way, under their own State government. Then we shall hear their own State government. Then we shall hear no more of bleeding Kansas. The Senate then adjourned.

A case of unnsnal interest was tried in Walton Superior Court last week, consuming four days. The testimony was voluminous, and we did not hear nor shall we pretend to give the hundredth part of it. A brief account of material facts will suffice. A man named Thos. Kelly, or O'K. I'y, was arraigned for the murder of his wife, who was found dash (frozen, it is said), in her place of confirement during the extraordinary cold weather of 1856. The deceased, it is alleged, was at least partially deranged, and had been confined a number of years, eleven or twelve, we believe—five in Oglethorpe and seven, perhaps, in Walton. It was proven that her place of confinement consisted of a pen constructed of poles notched at the corners and covered with clapboards. In this was a hole, ten by four inches, some four or five feet from the ground, with a shelf inside, upon which was also used as a urinal, without ever being washed. Her food, some of the witnesses testified, was promiscuously mixed together in this pan—boiled bacon, "collarda" and milk being frequently mixed together. Many of the witnesses testlied that the chinks or cracks between the poles of this den were open, there never was any fire in it—no bed or bedding, and the poor crasture A case of unnsnal interest was tried in Walton

In the House of Commons, Sir George Grev, in response to inquiries, said that the evidence offered by the French government of the complicity of Mazzini, Ledru Rollin, and others in Pianori's attempt on the Emperor's life, was insufficient to justify proceedings against those parties, and that the British government had declined to interfere.

THE SECRETS OF THE AMERICAN HORSE TAMER. The Buff lo Adverti er intimates that it is cognizant of the peculiar secret possessed by Mr. Rarey, the celebrated horse-tamer now in England, and employed so successfully by him in subjugating the most vicious and unruly of the equine species. The principle, it is thought, is doubt ess the same as that now in use by horse-breeders and borse-trainers in various parts of the country, and consists mainly in kind treatment, in subduing the fears of the animal, and accustoming him to unusual noises and objects. But there are other influences, somewhat of a mesmeric character, and employed as adjuncts, that go to insure the more complete success of the horsetamer, such as caresses, the use of drugs agreeable to the horse, scratching in parts not easily reached by the animal itself, giving food or water after long abstinence has occasioned hunger or thirst, the careful use of various tones of the human voice, &c.

The chief secret, however, according to the Ad vertiser, which paper has the authority for its statement from those who understand and practice the art, consists in "raising one of the fore feet of the horse, donbling the knee, and keeping a strap around the fetlock, fastening the foot close to the arm or shoulder. The Lorse then stands upon three legs. Having next put on a sureingle, pass a long strap or rein through the surcingle, and fastening one end of it around the fetlock of the other fore foot, attach the other to the surcingle after the animal is thrown, so closely as to deprive it of the use of the limb. In this item the treatment may be varied by fastening the second fetlock to the arm or should; rafter the animal is down."

This plan, says the Advertiser, is successfully pursued by many skillful horse-breakers in Western New York, and the horse yields to the necessities of the case—his spirit of opposition is broken.

CHICAGO.—A paragraph recently appeared in a New York paper to the effect that no less than ninety-six thousand three hundred and thirty chattel mortgages had been recorded at Chicago within a comparatively short time. The Chicago Times, noticing the statement, says: "From an examination of the business done in the office, we find the whole amount of instruments filed for record since 1834 up to 1858 to number a little over ninety-seven thonsand, and it must be observed that in this number are comprised all maps, bonds, mortgages, contracts, deeds, and all other instruments of every name and nature whatsoever, which the law requires to be made a matter of record. The number of chattel mortgages included in the above is short of eight per cent. upon the whole, and instead of being granted by merchants, who form the business community, we find, upon actual investigation of the schedule of property expressed in the instruments themselves, that they are in the most instances given to secure the purchase money of the goods and chattels which pass by bills of sale between the hard-working and industrious laborer and

CUBA.—A Washington correspondent of the New York Journal of Commerce says: "We have heard much and very vagnely of the purpose of our admiristration in regard to Cuba. It is not improbable that some negotiations looking to the purchase of Cuba may be commenced upon the occurrence of a favorable opportunity. If the object be favored by the governments of France and Great Britzin, it is not impossible that it will be accomplished within Mr. Buchanan's time."

A very dangerous counterfeit ten dollar note on the Bank of Commerce, Cleveland, Ohio, is afloat in this city-Vignette portrait of the Hon. Thos. F. Marshall with spectacles on.

THE "SEA SERPENT CAUGHT."-The following letter, giving an account of the capture of what at first was supposed to be the veritable sea serpent, we copy from the London Times of Feb. 12:

Sir: In your paper of the 5th instant is a letter from Captain Harrington, of the ship Castilian, stating his belief that he had seen the great sea serpent near St. Helena. His confidence is strengthened from the fact of something similar having been seen by her Majesty's ship Dædalus near the same position. The following circumstance, which oc-curred on board the ship Pekin, then belonging to Messrs. T. and W. Smith, on her passage from Maulmein, may be of some tervice respecting this "gueer fish":

O. December the 28th, 1848, being then in lat. 26 S. lon. 6 E. nearly calm, ship having only steerage way, saw about half a mile on port beam a very extraordinary looking thing in the water of considerable length. With the telescope we could plainly discern a huge head and neck, covered with a long shaggy-looking kind of mane, which it kept lifting at intervals out of the water. This was seen by all shaggy-looking kind of mane, which it kept lifting at intervals out of the water. This was seen by all hands and declared to be the great sea serpent. I determined on knowing something about it, and accordingly lowers a boat, in which my chief officer and four men went, taking with them a long small line in case it should he required.

I watched them very anxiously, and the monster seemed not to regard their approach. At length they got close to the head. They seemed to hesitate, and then busy themselves with the line, the monster all the time ducking its head, and showing it great length. Presently the boat began pulling towards the ship, the monster following slowly. In about half-an-hour they got along side; a tackle was got on the main yard, and it was hoisted on board. It appeared somewhat supple when hanging, but so completely covered with snaky-locking barnacles, about 18 inches long, that we had it some time on board before it was discovered to be a piece of gigantic seawed, 20 feet, long and 4 inches in dnameter, the root end of which appeared when in the water like the head of the animal, and the motion given by the sea cansed it to seem alive. In a few days it dried up to a hollow tub, and as it had a rather offensive smell was thrown overboard.

I had only been a short time in England when the fensive smell was thrown overboard.

I had only been a short time in England when the Dædalus arrived and reported having seen the great sea serpent, to the best of my recollection, near the same locality, and which I have no doubt was a piece of the same weed. So like a huge living monster did it appear that, had circumstances prevented my sending a boat to it, I should certainly have believed I had seen the great sea snake.

I am, sir, your obedient servant, FREDERICK SMITH.

Newcastle-on-Tyne, Feb. 10.

The Mormons at Tom's Island, New Jersey, have a church of about fifty members, built up chiefly by the exertions and influence of a single family. Pur-enant to a general order from headquarters in Utah, the house of worship there, as in other places, is closed. The members are much dejected, many having relatives at Salt Lake, for whose fortunes may well be anxious.

The style of getting the dollar will insure the true method of its use. The fortune meanly gained will be meanly spent; for the plain reason that the same man who degraded himself to obtain his money, unless he becomes a better man, will continue to act from the same low level, and scourge the community worse in the use than in the getting his wealth.

Good is more esteemed for having been long desired, affection stronger for having been long un-

FOREIGN ITEMS. - The Liverpool Times, in speaking of Lord Palmerston and his new "Conspiracy to Murder Bill," says:

"The concession which he has made this week to France does not appear to have diminished his power in the House of in the House of Commons, but it has sensibly impaired his standing beyond it, and if we contrast Lord Palmerston's popularity now with what it was this time last year, the truth of our observations will force conviction on the reader's mind."

The reform question will scon engage the attention of the people of England. The Chartists, according to the Liverpool Times, are now disposed to act rationally:

They are willing to co-operate with the middle class reformers in carrying as many points of the charter as they are likely with such aid to secure. So far, the movement in favor of an extended suffrage and the adoption of the ballot includes all the great communities in England, and the people are waiting to see to what extent Lord Palmersten's waiting to see to what extent Lord Palmersten's Government will go in the way of making the popular branch of the Legislature a tolerably correct reflex of the national feeling. If there be no new adjustment of the representation, the scheme will Lor satisfy that large section of the middle classes that supported the present Premier to strenuously at the last general election. As far as the single elections for the House of Commons go, the result is decidedly fovorable to the reform spirit of the country; for even those who entertain conservative views have been obliged, in deference to the popuviews have been obliged, in deference to the popular sentiment, to veil them under the guise of progressive measures. Considering that there are, row no exciting topics to agree the public mind this earnestness in favor of national advancement is a cheering sign of the times in which we live.

A new attempt is to be made in the Swedish Diet to relax somewhat the barbarous laws against apos-tacy from the Lutheran or State religion. It is greatly to be feared that Dr. Leichardt, the Austrian traveler, has shared the fate of Sir John Franklin. Four thousand five hundred pounds have, however, been voted by the Legislature of New South Wales for the expenses of the proposed expedition to search for him. Dr. Gregory has volunteered to conduct it, and he entertains some hope that a statement made by a convict, that Dr. Leichardt is a prisoner in the hands of a tribe of northern aborigines, may be true.

A New "Tobacco Question."-The important question of the possibility of poisoning by cigars impregnated with arsenic has been raised by the recent death, in France, of a priest named Bottary, supposed to have been poisoned by another priest. An investigation has been undertaken to ascertain whether it be possible or probable that arsenicated cigars can cause death, by the inspiration of their smoke, Impregnated with volatilized arsenic, or by its admission in the saliva without such change, and very important are the conclusions arrived at very important are the conclusions arrived at. "There are four ways," remark the investigators, "in which the introduction of arsenic into the animal economy may be effected through the medium of cigars; hy impregnation with a powerful solution of the poison; by its introduction into the candescent end, or as an impalpable power into the buckle end, so that it may reach and mix with the saliva during so that it may reach and mix with the saliva during smoking, or, inally, in larger quantity, hidden in the central part of the cigar.

"Poisoning is hardly possible in the first or second cases. In the third instance it is inconceivable. It might occur by a combination of two or three of these methods. The question of the formation of arseniaretted hydrogen is not settled." In reading this report, we seem to be transported to the days of the Borgias, when the poisoned taper, falsely bearing the motto "allis inserviendo consumor," destroyed other existences in sacrificing its own; and when the flowers of the ball-room were scented with alien and lethal perfumes. It is well to be assured alien and lethal perfounes. It is well to be assured that these fabled horrors are also impossibilities. The mere suggestion of this most "deleterious so phistication" of tobacco must carry alarm and discomfort to the soul of any rich uncle in the habit of smoking his favorite nephew's cigars; while for our modern blowers of anti-blasts to tobacco it furnishes a patent and effective insinuation. This report, however, practically negatives the possibility of such a crime being successfully perpetrated; since it is only in those cases where the impalpable powder is made to mix with the saliva, in other words, table expedient could be effectively employed.

ADVANTAGEOUS TO KNOW -Many a death has resulted from an accident, when a l ttle skill in the treatment of a wound might have prevented a sacrifice of life. In the excitement attendant upon the injury of a fellow being, we are too apt to lose the presence of mind necessary to a proper consideration of means by which relief can be renedred; and the necessity of making ourselves perfectly familiar with the manner in which wounds and injuries should be treated in cases of emergency, for the knowledge of the proper means to be adopted for the stoppage of bleeding from a wound, may be of ser-vice to us when we least exp.cctit. First, if the blood flows out in a stream, notice particularly whether the stream is an even, steady, or a jerking or a pulsating stream; if it is even and steady, the probability is it is from a vein, particularly if the color of the blood is a dirk red. Bleeding from an artery is peculiar, the blood being of a light scarlet color; the stream comes in that jerking light scarlet color; the stream comes in that jerking manner which is seen when a fire engine is playing upon a high building. To stop the flow of blc d in a vein, first close the wound with the hand firmly, then fold up any cloth, tow, flax, or leather, make it into a hard pad an inch thick, at least large enough to cover the entire wound, bind over this firmly any bandage, handkerchief, or strap, or even the bark of a trae; raise the wounded part higher than the body of the patient; keep him quiet; if he has bled a large quantity, give him (if at hand) a little spirits and water and send for tre doctor. If the bleeding is from an artery, take your handkerchief, tie it around the limb between the wound and the heart, put a strong stick under the handkerthe heart, put a strong stick under the handker-chief, give it two or three twists, and you will stop the blood, if you have made it tight enough. In all the blood, if you have made it tight enough. In all other respects the same treatment as above. In all small wounds, merely elevating the part higher than the body and retaining it so for a short time will arrest the bleeding.

For bleeding at the nose, apply ice to any part of the body, moving the ice around; it is best to apply it to the arm-pits, nape of the neck, &c. Keep the patient quiet; do not let him cough, &c., or bleeding will return.

AMERICAN "INSTITUTIONS." - Whatever the Americans are prond of—whatever they consider to be peculiarly good, useful, brilliant, or characteris-tic of themselves or their climate—they designate tic of themselves or their climate—they designate half in jest, though scarcely half in earnest, as an "institution." Thus the memory of Gen. Washington—or "Saint" Washington, as he might be called, cousidering the homage paid to him—is an institution; the Falls of Niagara are an institution; the Plymouth Rock, on which the Pilgrims first set foot, is an institution, as much so as the Blarney Stone in Ireland, to which an eloquent Irish orator, at a public dinner, compared it, amid great applause, by affirming that the Plymouth Rock was the "Blarney Stone of New England." Sweet potatoes are an institution; and pumpkin (or pumpkin pie) is an institution; canvas-back ducks are an institution; Bunker's Hill is an institution; and the firemen of New York a great institution.—Charles Mackey.

A MARONITE CONVENT AT LEBANON.-The Beirout (Syria) correspond nt of the Boston Traveller convent of Bekere is memorable for having been founded by the netorious Hendye, a young Ma-ronite damsel, whose crimes were as romantic as ronite damsel, whose crimes were as romantic as they were diabolical. Her extraordinary way of life attracted general attention. She fasted, wore hair cloth, had the gift of tears, and was thought by this ignerant and superstitious sect to be a raint; it was even rumored that she wrought miracles, and eventually it was fully believed; but they were introduced or the section of crimes.

Aspiring to found a new order of monks, she appealed to her partisans for the necessary funds to build a convent, which at once came pouring in, in such abundance, that she was able to erect large buildings of hewn stone, which cost $25,000, and lekere was alive with monks and nens, over whom the Patrisch was supreme director. Prices and Bekere was alive with nonks and nens, over whom the Patriarch was supreme director. Priests and candidates for the boly office were established in one of the man ions, which manks and nams occupied the others. For some time all seemed to go on prosperously, though occasionally some of the nuus died rather strangely, which, however, was ascribed to the air, and not to Hendye, whose sanctity a suspicion nevertainted. Like a sovereign she had reigned over her little kingdom for nerly 20 years, the wonder of her sect for her superior piety ard unknown mortification, when an accident occurred which mortification, when an accident occurred which threw all into confusion. An agent of this city (Beirut) happened to be going to Damascus some (Beirut) happened to be going to Damascus some summer, when he was overtaken by the night near the convent. The gates being shut, he laid himself down on a bed of straw in an ourer court.

After sleening a few kours, he was awoke by the sudden noise of bolts drawn and doors opening, from one of which three women curriged, with spades and shovels in their hands, while two men followed, carrying a long white bundle, which appeared to the agent to be heavy. Proceeding to an adjoining piece of ground, the bearers laid down their burden, and dug a hole in which they deposited their load, and then, covering it with earth, trod it down with their teet, when all retired silently and sclemnly as they came. and sclemnly as they came.

The strange sight at such an hour awakened the agent's suspicious; and hurrying back to Beirut before morning he informed another merchant, who, a few months before, had placed his two daughters here, each having a portiou of $2,000. The father was alarmed, remarking that many of the nuus had died, and one of his own daughters, as he knew, was nuwell. Mounting his horse, he proceeded to the convent, and asked to see his daughters, which was refused upon the pretence that they were sick. He refused upon the pretence that they were sick. He insisted, and was sternly refused, which only convinced him the more that foul play was going on. In madness and despair he hurried away to Deninel-Kammar, an important town at some distance, at which the Governor resided, who, upon hearing the story, ordered a company of horse to attend the unhappy father back to the convent, and break its doors open, if admittance was refused. The Cadi, or Judge, also joined the party, ard gave his aid, in whose presence, and that of the horseinen, armed and ready for their work, all hearts in the convent failed, and the doors were at once opened.

Repairing to the spot where the mysterious scene Repairing to the spot where the mysterious scene occurred in the night, the ground was opened, and in the human form which was revealed, whom should the peirut merchant recognise at the first glance but his own daughter! The other he found alive, but near to death, who revealed some of the abominable scenes of wickedness cuacted in the convent, which almost petrified those who heard them, and to which she was about to fall a victim like her sister.

Upon subsequent examination it was found that

Upon subsequent examination it was found that Hendye sometimes destroyed her nuns to obtain their property, and sometimes because they were not sufficiently obedient to her commands, while revolting scenes were disclosed, which are be mined or described. Among other things she did, she consecrated the host and said mass; and causing holes to be made under her bed, introduced perfumes through them, and lay in pretended

She also chaimed to be the Virgin Mary, returned to the earth. Being arrested by the civil authorities, she stood firm; and when imprisoned in several convents, she always managed to escape, and to the last retained a strong party on her side, play-ing the hyperite to the bour of her death. Such was the pretended sanctivy of her character, that the Marmites to this day revere her memory, and for her sake perform penenes and morthcations, thicking she was a very saint.

Controlling Her Temper - The husband of a lady of hery temper says that before their mairiage he was wained of her hery disposition, and, to test the accuracy of the information, one evening, as he the accuracy of the information, one evening, as he sat next to her at dinner, he managed cleverly to jog the servant's elbow, as a plate of mock turtle soup was offered her, which of course was upset over the young lady's white dress of tulle lace. No complaint, not even a frown, being evinced, the delighted snitor concluded that what he had heard was a mistake, and the marriage took place; but soon the lady's real character displayed itself, as is always the case after marliage, but never before, and his wife, like a human Stromboli, was subject to fiery eruptions every ten minutes upon an average. "How is it, my dear," said the happy husband, "that, having such a bad temper, you stood the ordeal by soup so well?" "Why," answered the lady, "I may have appeared judifferent at the time, but, good heaven?! you should have only gone into my room a little while afterwards and seen the works of my test on the hed-nost." seen the marks of my teeth on the bed-post."

To Catch Rats - When a house is infested by rats which refuse to nibble at toasted cheese and the usual baits, a few dreps of the highly scented oil of rhodium, poured on the bottom of a cage trap, will almost invariably attract it full of the "mischlevous rodents" before morning. We have known this to be tried with the most extraordinary success. Where a trap, baited with all manner of edibles, had failed to attract a single rat, the oil of rhodium caused it to be completely crowded night after night, until the house was cleared of the noisome visitors. The same oil of rhodium is used by some keepers of rat pits, who, when their hands are smeared with it, do not hesitate to take the animals up by the dozen out of bags, fearless of bites. which refuse to nibble at toasted cheese and the usuup by the dozen out of bags, fearless of bites.

They who read about everything are thought to understand everything too, but it is not always so. Reading furnishes the mind only with the material of knowledge; it is thinking that makes what we read ours. We are of the ruminating kind, and it is not enough to cram ourselves with a great load of collections-we must chew them over again.

One case was of a lady who had been openly told by her physicians that she could not hope to recover, as medicine would not reach her disease. Under Mrs. Mansfield's treatment however she has been able to take rest and to sleep, and also to relish her food, which has not been the case before for a long time. The accounts of this and other similar successes naturally arouse no little feeling among sufferers and their friends. Mrs. Mansfield's stay at the Galt House is now extended to Fiday.

The Kansas investigating committee met to-night, all the members being present. Gan. Calhoun sent in a statement relative to Kansas affairs, but it was decided it should not be considered as evidence decided it should not be considered as evidence.

Mr. Stephens read a report expressive of the views of the majority, setting forth, among other things, that, as authority was legally conferred on the delegates to the convention to frame a constitution, those who had an opportunity but who decliued to vote, are debarred from finding fault with the action of the convention. The report also reviews the position of Messrs. Stanton, Walker, and Douglas, and maintains that they are inconsistent in their present course.

present course. Resolutions were passed with the view of obtain-ing information relative to the census and other documentary evidence, to accompany the report.

A motion was made, but it was voted down, to adjourn till to-morrow night. The committee then

We would respectfully call the attention of the public to a MARINE CHRONOMETER placed in our window, showing the exact time. It is entirely of American manufacture, and has been exhibited at the World's Fair in Paris in competition with the best London and French Chronometers, and also at the World's Fair in New York, and in every instance has received the highest premium for unequalled workmanship and correct time-keeping.

To our watch denartment as here.

To our watch department we have secured the services of Mr. Ed. Helwig, of New York. Mr. H. can execute any kind of watch-work fully equal to Jurgensen. Frodsham, Adams, or any of the first London or Swiss makers.

In many fine Watches that are broken, parts are substituted greatly inferior to the original, the enstomer paying the full price for a perfect plece of work. The Watch apparently performs well afterward for a while, but is more imperfect and less valuable than originally.
